HEARNE WINS LONG AUTO RACE

Drives Benz Car to Victory in One Hundred-Mile Free-for-All at Indianapolis.

Contest is Feature of First Day's Meet at Indianapolis.

IS WORTH THOUSAND DOLLARS

Knight, in a Westcott Machine, is Second, with Livingston and Hearne Taking Remaining Places in Order.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 3.—Eddie Hearne piloted his big Benz car to victory in the 100-mile free-for-all and the ten-mile open event for the majority of the laurels in the first day of the final race meeting on the Indianapolis speedway here today. Hearne's victory in the 100-mile battle netted him $1,000 in cash and by winning the short free-for-all he retained possession of the speedway helmet which he had captured at the July meeting with the same machine and which bears with it a salary of $50 per week.

The second 100-mile struggle of the program was open to stock chassis cars under 40 cubic inches piston displacement and the Blue National, driven by Howard Wilcox, won without a stop in the fast time of 53 minutes 2 seconds, with Charles Merz in the other National entrant, a good second. The Speedwell, driven by "Jap" Clemens, was the third in the long race to receive the checkered flag.

Wilcox is a new star in the firmament of racing stars and by his remarkable non-stop success in the long stock chassis race gains possession of the silver brassard, which carries a salary of $75 per week until the end of the speedway contest season and also takes into the National camp a trophy cup, both of which were offered for the 100-mile brassard class.

Stock Car Race Well Contested. The stock car race was more closely contested than the free-for-all. The two Nationals and Joe Dawson, in a Marmon, battled around the two and one-half-mile circuit until the Marmon incurred motor trouble as it was coming into the stretch at high speed and so was forced to retire in the sixty-seventh mile.

The Westcott car, driven by Knight, took second money in the long distance free-for-all competition and Livingston hauled a stock National across the wire for third honors. Hearne's Benz was not crowded at any time. He did not experience any tire trouble and stopped only once for oil.

The Chicago youngster and his foreign car averaged seventy-five miles an hour for the entire 100 miles, but his time of 79 minutes and 58.1 seconds does not lower any records.

The entire program of ten events today failed to produce a new mark. In the time trials, the Fiat, driven by De Palma, covered the mile spring in 38.64 seconds, but this time is two seconds slower than the present records.

No accidents marred the races.

Dudie Archdale Equals Record at Readville

Hailworthy Wins Massachusetts Stakes from Nebraska Mare—The Harvester Goes for Record.

READVILLE, Mass., Sept. 3.—Hailworthy won the fifteenth renewal of the classic Massachusetts 100-footing stake here today, but his victory was shared by the trim little mare, Dudie Archdale, as in the opening heat of the race she won in 2:05.4, which equalled the record of the stake made by Saddle Mac in 1905. The Harvester, champion trotting stallion of the world, with a record of 2:08, was started to lower the mark, but when the time came for the attempt it was raining hard, and he did remarkably well in turning the course in 2:29.4.

The Bunker Hill and Norfolk stakes were the remaining features of the day's card. For the former Ross K. was best liked by the talent, but Eas H. Kay won easily. "Pop" Geary, behind the Abbe, had his hands full in defeating Evelyn W. in both of the heats required in deciding the stake. The 216 trot brought out the largest field in the meeting. C. W. Lazel, the wealthy owner and driver from Whitinsville, Mass., won easily with Creighton.

Cornhuskers to Have Hard Foot Ball Schedule

Manager Eager Has Arranged Eight Games, Four of Them Being Tough.

LINCOLN, September 3.—(Special.)—Profiting from the experience of the last three years, Manager Eager has carefully arranged the foot ball schedule so that it is one of the most attractive in years. The season will open with Peru normal team. A week later the university of South Dakota will come to Lincoln. Last year the Cornhuskers were given a hard battle by the "Coyotes." In the third game of the season Nebraska meets Minnesota at Minneapolis. Two lighter contests are scheduled before the Cornhuskers journey to Lawrence to meet the oldtime rival. Whether the Cornhuskers can play two hard games in succession is the question bothering the coaches. On the week following the Kansas game, Ames will come to Lincoln. This marks the resumption of foot ball relations with the agricultural college.

Two Games for Next Two Days

Double-Headers to Be Played Both Sunday and Monday Afternoons.

Omaha and Lincoln ball players will have a strenuous time during the next two days. As a result of the postponement of Saturday's game on account of the rain and with the doubleheader already scheduled for Monday, four games will have to be played in two days. The first game each day will begin at 2 o'clock sharp.

BASE BALL AT NEBRASKA CITY

Managers of Team and Local Fans Are Arranging for Strong Team.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Sept. 2.—(Special Telegram.)—The Mink league team plays its last game of ball here for the season, with the St. Joseph team. The Nebraska City team has been unfortunate at the latter end of the season and at present Captain Walker and Hicklin, the crack center fielder, are laid up with sprained ankles. A move is already on foot to form a strong financial organization to put a stronger and faster team here next season. The team has been well supported and close the season without any debts. Next year the salary limit will be raised and bigger bonus raised so that the fast players will be kept in the team. Nebraska City has proved to have been the best base ball town in the league and all of the players received a bonus above their salaries for the season. The Omaha team has been raised for players who made track plays and one player received better than $100 for one game.

COACH KING COLE FACES REAL TEST

Must Turn Out a Championship Team or Lose His Prestige at Lincoln.

CRITICISM HAS HURT COACH

Will Have Good Material on Hand for a Team.

ALL EYES ARE NOW ON HIM

Students Are Watching a Chance to Find Fault.

HAD LACK OF GOOD SYSTEM

Undergraduates of Nebraska University Disatisfied with Showing of Coach, but He Has Made Good Record.

Developments in Nebraska foot ball this fall will be closely watched by Cornhusker alumni, western coaches and followers of the game in this section of the country. Coach "King" Cole, who already has guided the Cornhusker team through three seasons of varying success, will be on trial. It is the expressed opinion of the alumni and undergraduates of the Lincoln school that "King" Cole failed to get the results last fall that the material warranted. To his re-election for this season there was considerable opposition, and the Nebraska board of control was petitioned to secure the services of another man for 1910. Wishes of the students and alumni were given little heed and Coach Cole was given another lease on life. Upon his return "King" will find that his work must be in an atmosphere bearing rather a heavy prejudice against him. Despite the general disaffection with Coach Cole's work of last fall, there is little basis for the adverse criticism of his instruction. Nebraska's eleven was a failure last autumn; this fact is admitted, but there were circumstances over which the coach had no control that made the season a disappointment. The student body did not have the material among its number to give Cole the men to produce a winning team. There were plenty of strong players for the line, and Cole turned out a set of forwards that equaled anything in the Missouri valley. Timber for the backfield was scarce and the offensive line of the Cornhuskers was weak throughout the whole autumn because of this condition. The line did good work on the offense, so far as it was possible for the forwards to play in the attack, but the men in the backfield were not of the caliber that makes a winning team. In these same games it was also proved that Cole had produced a line that was one of the best Nebraska ever had. In some of these games it was also proved that the backs were not up to the standard of Cornhusker football.

Small Opportunity. Though there was a paucity of material when the season opened, the coach had little opportunity for a coach to show his skill, the followers of the game at Nebraska launched forth in criticism of Cole's work without doing the Michigan man justice. They forgot that he had given Nebraska a champion eleven in the first fall that he coached in Lincoln. That year, 1907, he formed an eleven that defeated Kansas and held Minnesota to an 8 to 5 score. The next season he brought out a team that suffered defeat at the hands of Kansas, not through any lack of coaching, but because of a schedule that would have caused the downfall of the best eleven in the country. These were the years 1908 and 1909, that "King" Cole coached two of the strongest teams that the Cornhusker school had supported since the fertile days of Coach "Bunsy" Booth, the man "who placed Nebraska on the foot ball map."

Cole's critics overlooked the good points of the Michigan team. They were not re-elected against him after the close of the season last year.

In the face of the strong opposition to Cole among the men most deeply interested in Nebraska foot ball, his re-election by the Cornhusker board of control by a unanimous vote has been strengthened without the aid of any new men. It was a testimonial to what the men in control of athletics at the Cornhusker institution think of "King" Cole. There were several other coaches whom they could have secured, but Cole, in their estimation had proved his worth, so he was the choice above all other applicants for the position. The Nebraska trustees had and have faith in the ability of "King" Cole to produce a winning eleven when he has the material with which to work.

There were spots in the play of the Nebraska eleven last fall that probably could have been strengthened without the aid of any new men. It was in these spots in Cole's system that he did not remedy these places, but then every coach has his faults, and it was only natural that Cole could fall in some things. His interference and tackling methods were not the best. Poor tackling cost the Cornhuskers nearly as many points in 1909 as in the Kansas game last fall. The inexcusable tackling of a few of the men permitted Kansas to make the only score of the game and win a contest that should have been Nebraska's. In the offense of the men there was lacking a well-organized interference. The failure to develop a successful interference undoubtedly was the main weakness in Cole's system of play.

New Style Game. This fall, with pulling and pushing of players abolished, interference will be an important factor in the offensive play of all of many teams. It is probably, than ever before in the history of the game. The manager in which Cole handles the situation in creating offensive plays and interference will be closely watched. If he can get a plan of interference that will permit his backs to gain ground he will disarm many of his critics.

With the flying tackle forbidden this fall, the critics of the Nebraska coach will not be able to censure him for not making his men leave their feet in order to bring a man to the ground. During the past three years the Cornhuskers have had several men who could tackle well from a standing position, but none who could do the flying tackle act with any great amount of success. By the abolition of the flying tackle the Cornhuskers should benefit. It must be said in justification of "King" Cole that he tried to teach his pupils how to tackle, and spent many hours each week in trying to get the
